Company: MMR Research Worldwide LTD

Location: Singapore

Category: architecture-and-engineering

Passionate about food & drink? Are you looking for a permanent part-time opportunity in a unique role?

MMR Research Worldwide specialise in consumer and sensory research and work with large, international brands within the food, beverage & personal/household care sectors. We are currently recruiting for part-time Product Evaluators/Sensory Panellists to join our new expert panel based at Harbourside 1,1 Boon Leat Terrace S119843 #05-01.

We have the following hours available:

PM Panel - working on Tuesday and Thursdays from 2pm - 5pm with flexibility to work on Monday or Wednesday afternoons as required (you would be given prior notice of this).

Employees start on $13 per hour, rising to $14 per hour after six months.

These roles involve:

Working individually and within a team to evaluate products within the food, drink and personal care industry

Products range from food & beverages (including alcohol, meat & individual ingredients) through to personal care & household products (e.g. shampoo, skin care products)

You will be taught how to generate sensory descriptive vocabulary as a group (relating to the taste, appearance, texture and smell of a product) and then individually evaluate products on these descriptors

No experience necessary as full training training will be given

Requirements

Requirements needed for this role:

Good sensory acuity relating to smell and taste (this will be tested during a screening session)

You should have the ability to follow detailed instructions

You should be comfortable completing routine tasks quickly and accurately

The ability to articulate yourselves in fluent English in front of others

You must not have any dietary restrictions (e.g. vegetarian) & be happy to evaluate alcohol products when required

You must not have any food intolerances/allergies

You must agree not to wear any perfume and use any strong-smelling hand creams as this could affect your work

Benefits

Shortlisted candidates will be invited to a remote screening session, further details will be provided once you have been successfully shortlisted.

MMR is an Equal Opportunities Employer.
